TYHEE RECEIVES PERMITS FOR DIAMOND DRILLING ON EXPLORATION PROPERTIES IN YELLOWKNIFE, NWT.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (Monday June 11, 2007)--Tyhee Development Corp. (TSX Venture, TDC) today announced that it has received permits to diamond drill on its wholly-owned Clan Lake and Goodwin Lake Properties, 52 and 62 km north of Yellowknife respectively.

Dave Webb stated "These permits will allow Tyhee to drill test some of the known gold showings on our exploration properties that appear to be geologically similar to the Ormsby Zone, which is currently host to over 70% of the measured and indicated gold resource for the Yellowknife Gold Project. Finding similar geology on these properties significantly increases their potential to host gold deposits. In addition, the Clan Lake Property already hosts a 600,000 ounce historic resource¹ which has been previously disclosed. Our exploration program for 2007 will show how much of this resource can be converted into an NI 43-101 compliant resource. Tyhee has contracted an additional four senior geologists together with support staff to advance these exploration properties."

Permits for Tyhee's wholly-owned BigSky Property are pending.

A revised gold resource is nearing completion, incorporating data current as of April 8, 2007. A Preliminary Economic Assessment is currently underway, and is awaiting these resource numbers. The results of this work will be released once they are received. Additional studies at the Nicholas Lake Main Zone are expected to lead to a revised estimate for this gold resource which will be completed later this year.
